

Biographical Note

Vasileios Patsis pursues a doctoral degree in Industrial Engineering at the University of West Attica (UNIWA - Greece).

He has studied Chemical Engineering at the National Technical University of Athens (NTUA-1998) and he has attended his diploma thesis at the École Polytechnique Fédérale de Lausanne (EPFL-Switzerland-1998).

He has been working for 22 years as production manager in a worldwide chemical company involved in the Maritime Industry (Piraeus-Greece).

Vasileios Patsis holds a Master's Degree in Advanced Industrial Manufacturing Systems from Kingston University (U.K.-London-2020) and a second Master's Degree in Quality Management and Technology from the Hellenic Open University (HOU-Patras Greece-2018).

Furthermore, he is a Certified Safety Advisor (DGSA) in the Carriage of Dangerous Goods by road (ADR) and rail (RID) and he has an excellent knowledge of the IMDG Code (Greek Ministry of Transportation 2014, Regulatory Authority for Railways 2014).

His main research interests are in the development of lean and green chemical products and processes for the Maritime Industry.